A "HOT MONTH,"

Says Hicks, in His Forecast For July.

Some Excessively Warm Weather
Scheduled, But Waves Will be Followed by Cool Days.

There will be a noticeable tendency to cloudiness during the first ten days of the month. Very warm, muggy weather will prevail, a portion of the time, but a very probable change to cooler will pass over the country between the 4th and 7th. The second storm period covers the 7th to the 11th. Thunder storms, with wind and rain, will strike many localities during the progress of these storm conditions. Another change to cooler will follow for two or three days. On the 15th look for change to much warmer, with more rain, wind and thunder. There will be much blistering but the rain fall will not be very heavy. Slight change to cooler will naturally follow these reactionary excitements. A regular storm period is central on the 20th. Look for very high temperature. One of the warmest waves of the month may be counted on from about the 24th to the 27th, accompanied by active electrical storms and culminating in many thunder gusts. Cooler to the close of the month. The month comes to its close in the first stage of a regular storm period, the culmination of which will fall in the opening days of August. Some eastern to northern parts of our great agricultural regions will feel a pinch of dryness in July and August, and most other sections will have little moisture to waste.

EXTREMELY AWKWARD.

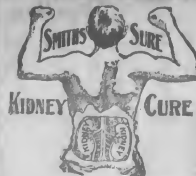

What Happened When a Young Lady Got Into the Crowded 'Bus.

She stood at the corner of Fifth avenue and Thirty-fourth street just at dusk peering timorously at the two lines of hansom cabs glittering in two long rows up and down the avenue, says the New York Post. Her buff edged skirts were gathered tightly about her and held clear of the sidewalk. On the top of the hill she hesitated, after a few minutes of waiting, a lumbering 'bus being cleverly maneuvered through the press of traffic. She gave a happy little sigh and stepped down from the sidewalk waving an ornate purse at the driver as a signal to stop. She elbowed in pay, and though every seat was occupied, a tall man with a will hat arose precipitately and crushed his hat against the roof.

"I beg your pardon," murmured the young woman.

The man smiled as pleasantly as he could, as he extricated his ears from the hat, and the other passengers glared at her as if holding her accountable for the mishap. Her discomfort grew with the insistence of the glance. Then she undertook to pay her fare. First the purse would not open, then it opened with a calamitous rush and there was a clatter of coin on the floor of the 'bus. The man with the masked hat sprang once more into the breach of gallantry. He got down on the floor and fanned groveled after the coins while the woman in the conveyance—he was the only man aboard—held up their feet and made a pretense of helping him.

At last, finally all the coins were collected; the uncomfortable young woman, wearing the red-faced man that he really need not look for any more. The man arose redder than ever, and smiling, serenely smiling, extended his hand in a dumb effort to put her fare in the box. The young woman had forgotten and closed the purse, so it was not until the bus had gone two blocks that she succeeded in getting the thing open. And then, as she handed the coin—the dropped it.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Montana.) In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea, which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was lying alone on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by C. K. Wyly, druggist.

There is being much said about negro peonage in the South, which means holding negroes in involuntary servitude. A federal judge in Alabama has gone so far as to condemn peonage a white man who forced a negro to work out a debt due him, the negro raising no objections until instigated by others to prosecute the man who had extended credit to him. In many of the factories of the North, the white laborers are but little better than slaves, but we hear no special clamor being raised about their pitiable condition. Next thing, the "peonage" question will be applied to negro jail birds who are held in "involuntary servitude."

The Review of Reviews opens a new volume with a number that exhibits very clearly the international scope of the magazine. The shocking end of the Obrenovitch dynasty in Serbia is the occasion of some interesting editorial comment on the politics of southeastern Europe: the British tariff debate centering about Mr. Chamberlain's proposals, also claims editorial attention. Mr. W. T. Stead makes a scathing exposure of the plundering and atrocities perpetrated in the Congo Free State for the profit and aggrandizement of Leopold, King of the Belgians, and his arraignment of that monarch is authenticated by the personal observations of the Rev. W. M. Morrison, an American missionary in the Congo country; a wholly different kind of exploitation is described by Joseph M. Rogers under the title, "The American Invasion of Uganda,"—an account of Yankee bridge building in the heart of the Dark Continent.

SONS OF KENTUCKY

Will be Reunited After Separation of Half Century.

Dallas, Texas, June 26.—There is to be a reunion of two brothers in Owensboro, Ky., who have not met since 1849, and who had not heard from each other for half a century until a letter came to Texas a week ago. The brothers are George W. and John V. Goodie. They were born and reared in Davis county, Kentucky. John V. is past 80 years old and George W. is in his seventieth year. The story of their separation as told by George W., in a Dallas railway ticket office to-day, is as follows:

My brother had a violent attack of the gold fever in 1849 and joined the rush to California. He has been there until about 10 days ago, I came to Texas, and 32 years ago served as City Marshal in Dallas. For the last 30 years I have been farming in Parker County. A few days ago I received a letter from Owensboro that brother John had come back from California to spend his last days at the old home. I have packed up what things I need and started on a trip for my old Kentucky home. I'm just negotiating with this agent for one ticket to Kentucky and two back to Texas. I can prevail on John to do so I'll have him to come out with me and make me a visit on my Parker County farm."

NEW TELEGRAM FORM

Has Been Adopted by the Postal Telegraph Company.

To commemorate an epoch in its history and an act of signal importance to the county—the extension of the cable under the Pacific Ocean from San Francisco to Hawaii, Guam, Manila, and China—a new telegram form has been designed and adopted by the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company.

The distinctive feature of the form is a unique device, or "trade-mark," elliptical in shape, to indicate that the company's lines extend more than two-thirds of the distance from east to west around the world. The border of the ellipse is a representation of an armored submarine cable with the words "Postal Telegraph Commercial Cable System" in white on the blue ground of a marginal band surrounding a reduced map showing the shortest the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, the shores of Europe and Asia and the continent of North America, and indicating the routes of ocean cable and the main American landlines of the commercial Cable and Postal Telegraph Companies.

The device is a graphic delineation in remarkably small space of the comprehensive and far-reaching telegraph system which will endure as a fitting monument to the late John W. Mackey, in whose patriotism and public spirit it was conceived and by whose sagacity, financial ability and indomitable energy it was established and developed despite powerful opposition, until it gained public recognition as one of the most successful as well as beneficial business enterprises of the times.

The secret of its success is an open one and is summed up in the phrase that has become the motto of its employees—"Intelligence, diligence energy and courtesy make the best telegraph service."

It is justifiable pride that leads to the reiteration in the company's advertisements of the question: "Did you every stop to compare the efficient telegraph service of to-day with the telegraph service as it was before the Postal and Commercial companies entered the field?" followed by the answer—"It is better now, and we did it!"

VISIT TO EARLINGTON

By a Party of Hopkinsville Ladies Thursday.

Seventeen Hopkinsville ladies left Thursday morning on the ten o'clock train for Earlington, where they were delightfully entertained until the midnight train by the ladies and gentlemen of that town. Traps and carriages met the party and after driving them around town they were driven out to the lake where a delicious dinner was served in the pavilion. After dinner an hour or two was spent rowing and fishing on the lake, having pictures taken and enjoying the beautiful scenery. About four o'clock the party returned to Earlington in traps, were driven to the mines and points of interest around the town and entertained at a supper. Mrs. E. A. Chatten was hostess at the lunch party given in the evening. Ten games were played and during the contesticed punch was served, and at the conclusion the picnic crowd had to rush for the train. The Earlingtons beat by a score of 106 to 74.

Everybody's Magazine.

The July number of Everybody's Magazine is specially strong in fiction. A new serial is begun in that number by Gelett Burgess and Will Irwin, called "The Reign of Queen Lyle," a gay, vigorous, human tale of modern California and a fiesta queen who vanished on the eve of her coronation. The fantastic humor of Gelett Burgess and the sturdy realism of Will Irwin have combined to make a charming story. "The Marriage of Martin", by Frederick Walworth, is a lively tale of Irish twins who loved the same girl. "The Atavism of John Tom Little Bear", by O. Henry, is a humorous story of an Indian, who, after receiving a college education, becomes Indian again for a few hours, much to the reader's edification and the Indian's credit. "The Poet and the Hall Bedroom" is a dainty story by Emily Watson, full of sentiment. "The Wooing of Ab-Te" concludes in the July number. It is the strongest instalment of a strong story. The Indian snake dance is given with such realism as to suggest that the author must have been an eye-witness.

GHASTLY FIND.

Discovers Skeleton Supposed to Be That of Negro.

Cadiz, Ky., June 25.—While Bristol Lancaster, living about eight miles south of here, was out hunting a few days ago, he came across a human skeleton in a large wood land belonging to J. H. Porter. A pair of pants were found with the skeleton, and about fifty yards away the shoes were found sitting against a tree. It is generally accepted that the skeleton is that of an old negro named Chas. Dillard, who, at times, was mentally unbalanced. About eighteen months ago he went to the home of Jeff Elliott, a negro, who lives near where the skeleton was found, and in the afternoon left Elliott's and has not been heard of since. The shoes and pants were identified by Elliott as the ones worn away from his house by Dillard, and negro hair was also found. A nail and a small button were found in the pants pockets. Some think that the old negro, while in his demented state, wandered off in the woods and died, while others believe he was murdered. Some claim that he had some money, and a new pocketbook a day or two before he disappeared, which adds to the theory of murder. This has created a good deal of excitement in that community, and hundreds of people have visited the scene.

Track Laying Progressing Very Rapidly.

The track laying on the T. C. R. R. is progressing rapidly toward Ashland City and it will be only a short time when Nashville and Ashland will be connected by rail. The work of grading between Clarksville and Ashland is being pushed rapidly towards completion, also the work north of Clarksville is moving on nicely and it seems that before long we will hear the whistle of the locomotive on the new road.

The new offices in the new exchange building have nearly all been refitted and furnished and the officials begin to feel at home in their new quarters.—Times-Journal.

Those who will persist in closing their ears against the continual recommendation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, will have a long and bitter fight with their troubles, if not ended earlier by fatal termination. FOREST FIRES.

How They Occur and How They May Be Controlled.

A study of forest fires, begun in the South this spring, will be continued during the summer in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin by a party under H. J. Tompkins, of the Bureau of Forestry. Mr. Tompkins will inquire into the methods used by the inhabitants in putting out fires, and determine, if possible, how these methods may be improved. He will then attempt to devise some general system of fire control for the States studied, so that the Bureau, if called on, will be able to furnish their legislatures with recommendations for fire laws based on a thorough knowledge of the conditions.

The meeting is for the purpose of paying expenses of the late primary election of May 9 last. The Central Committee has not been called to meet.

GREAT CONTEST.

Was That Pulled Off at Crofton Friday Night.

Crofton, Ky., June 27.—Unprecedented in the annals of modern history was the exciting contest of Old Time Fiddlers at this place last night and many old and difficult points were settled forever, beyond dispute.

Prof. W. E. Gray, of Crofton, delivered the welcoming address and Mr. W. F. Randle, of Hopkinsville, responded. Mr. T. E. Bartley, of Hopkinsville, was master of ceremonies. The judges were Messrs. John M. Dulin and M. B. Brown, of this place, and O. G. Hille, of Hopkinsville.

THE PROGRAM.

Solo.—Joe S. Clark, "Billy in the Low Ground"; Hart Wicks, "Fiddling Jim"; B. Marquess, "It's Bleeding for Yer"; J. G. Hord, "Water's Wet, but Don't Reach"; W. F. Randle, "Shine On, Oh, Shine On"; Dr. G. W. Lacey, "Dissect, Nigger, Dissect"; Robt. McCarroll, "Froebing Charlie".

Clark and Marquess tied. When this was played off Marquess won. The points at issue were that Clark stamped so loud it drowned the tone of his G string, while Marquess played with his right hand and stamped with his left foot. Marquess corrected his error, while Clark stamped a light out.

In the contest of Christian county against Hopkinsville, Hopkinsville won. The county was represented by Wicks, Marquess, Clark, Dr. Lacey, and Miss Essie Marquess. The city fiddlers were: Hord, Bartley, Lacey, McCarroll and Stanley Long.

This contest was very spirited and many points of excellence were brought out. Dr. Lacey made some lengthy runs on his tenor string near the bridge, which would have knocked a mocking bird cold. Miss Marquess' accompaniment on the guitar was excellent. Wicks played a fine second and Clark got in his work on his "G." Of the Hopkinsville team Randle pulled down so heavy that he broke his second tenor string, but he kept on playing "just the same," scoring a fine point. Long's execution on his bass fiddle was something marvelous. His elbow and foot movements were like unto those of the "Old Timer."

Hord and McCarroll made good seconds, adding much volume to the music. Bartley played second lead to Randle and the way he went at it showed there was doing. Coolishness in what he broke his second tenor string, but he kept on playing "just the same," scoring a fine point. Long's execution on his bass fiddle was something marvelous. His elbow and foot movements were like unto those of the "Old Timer."

There were several duets and in one of them Lacey and Bartley each scored 30 points, making a tie. This was played off. The judges were in doubt as to the winner until a lucky accident happened for Lacey. While getting in some fancy licks the lower end of his bow slipped and went under the bridge. The doctor lost neither "time" nor "tune," thus winning by one point. Hopkinsville also won in the contest between the Hopkinsville six against "any six."

The next and last number was music of 1703 and 1903. This was rendered by O. G. Hille. For music of 1703 he played "Cotton Eyed Joe." This was so pathetically rendered that a number of the Old Time Fiddlers were visibly affected. Hille had his nerve with him, however, and went back with music of 1903, rendering "Down on the Sewanee River," with variations. This elicited much applause and he was forced to come back and play several other selections, among them being "My Old Kentucky Home." It is to be hoped that the old fiddlers will play a return engagement at no distant day.

The list of prizes follows: Covered Vegetable Dish, Miss Essie Marquess; Silk Umbrella, silver mounted, W. F. Randle; 50 lbs. Fine Flour, Hart Wicks; 1 qt. SINGING SKULE

Drew a Big Crowd at Opera House Friday Night.

Messrs. Hertram and Willard, the managers of the "Singing Skule" entertainment at the opera house Friday night, gave a large crowd a thoroughly enjoyable show.

It was given under the auspices of the Christian church and they were assisted by the following well known local people:

Messrs. B. C. Hardwick, Walter Wilson; Misses Nan Long, Mary Graeme Stirling, Maggie Wilson, Edith Boulware, Hattie Hale, Rowena Wall, Maggie Hill, Bettie Lee Smith, Kate Quick, Betsy Ware, Ada Ritter, Kate Manson, Annie Cox, Mary Goldthwaite, Willie Harned, Mabel Wilson, Joy Herndon, Patty Bartley, Maggie Ellis, Minnie Armistead, Virgie Nourse, Susie Cox, Katherine Long; Messrs. Charles Duke, Lawson Plack, Ben Winfield, Emmet Jones, Will Waller, Albert Thomas, Browne Whitlow, Ellis McKee, Fritz Follenstein, Miller Clark, Pap McKee.

The show consisted of songs, recitations and comic specialties. Humor pervaded the whole performance from start to finish. Mr. Hertram impersonated Mrs. Jeremiah Robbins and Mr. Willard was Mr. Robbins. They, of course, told the leading parts, but were ably assisted by the Hopkinsville talent, including the best in the city for performances of this kind. Misses Hattie Hale and Edith Boulware deserve special credit for creating a local interest in the show and making it so pronounced a success. The profits of the show went to the organ fund of the church.

TO SUCCEED REDWINE.

Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd to Run for Circuit Judge.

Lexington, Ky., June 26.—It was given out here to night by a well known citizen of Campton that Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd would in a short time announce his candidacy for Circuit Judge to succeed Judge Redwine. It is claimed that all citizens, irrespective of politics are anxious that he make the race. It is believed that he is the only person that can stamp out the feuds in the district.

Milling Prospects

If flour buyers have gained the impression that the mill of St. Louis and the Southwest will not have plenty of wheat, wheat of good quality and wheat at compelling prices, we can assure them that they will speedily find their mistake, and learn to the contrary, that the outlook of the milling year in the Southwest is decidedly good.

St. Louis and the adjoining mills have to the west of them abundance of wheat. Kansas has magnificent prospects, with nothing to interfere but a wet harvest, which at present is not promised. The quality of Kansas and Oklahoma wheat and a good part of the Illinois and Mississippi crop will make the Southwest a strong competitor and we are sure that time will prove this assertion.

With the 1903 crop harvested in dry condition, there should be available for the mill of the whole winter wheat belt, plenty of supplies of soft wheat and hard wheat for the entire season. True, in localities the flood damage will be felt. Here wheat will have to be shipped in, instead of delivered locally, but happily the crop west is superb and the mills are along the line of the natural way to principal buying markets. Samples of new cut wheat from central Illinois are on exhibition and are exceptionally fine.

There is damage by flood and sections have suffered, but the government report as a bases does not warrant the belief that a falling off in the results mean a shortage. Speculators especially in the St. Louis market have unduly colored every local report. It is right and proper that the damage by flood should be reported, by this it does not mean that any mill state was crippled.

Elsewhere in this issue is printed a communication from Mr. F. E. Kauffman, which we believe will set at rest some of the reports that have been sent out by speculators, who have misrepresented the situation so grossly that it is time to call a halt. A blind pool of speculators have manufactured news and exaggerated the crop damage so persistently, in order to draw country traders into the market that it is quite time to prick the bubble.

The countryman did not respond with his buying orders and the blind pool is in a fair way to go to pieces. Small contract supplies the prospects of late deliveries and exaggerated reports, with talk of dollar wheat, have maintained the pool intact, but the pool will lose its effect in ample time to put the Southwest on its legitimate basis. The trader should understand this and Mr. Kauffman's letter is timely.

TALENTED YOUNG ACTRESS.

Sketch of Miss Fay Finley, Who Visited Here.

The following sketch appeared in the Louisville Times of Saturday, though captivated the large audience, numbering probably 2,500 people in the big Union Tabernacle. Miss Finley was given a vociferous encore and her second recitation was even more pleasing than the first.

"The talented young lady was at that time and has since been visiting Mrs. J. H. Taylor, who is her aunt, and it is not generally known now that she is the bright young actress, known on the stage as Mary Stockton, who last season played the role of Bob in "A Little Outcast," and has been re-engaged by Manager E. J. Carpenter for the same role next season.

"She is spending the summer with her aunt here and another aunt, Mrs. Herard, at Franklin, Ky.

"She is a native of Kentucky, but her father, W. S. Finley, is now a wholesale jeweler of Cleveland, Ohio. Her grandfather was a Methodist minister of Morgantown, Ky., noted throughout Western Kentucky for his eloquence and popularity as a preacher. One of his best lectures was on "Ben Hur." He died a year or two ago.

"Miss Finley was educated at the Peabody School in Nashville, Tenn., and took a special course in elocution, having early developed a taste and talent for the stage. When she adopted her present profession, she dropped her last name and as known on the stage as Mary Stockton.

"During her career, which covers less than two years, she has everywhere met with unstinted praise."

Hot Weather Weakness.

If you feel fagged out, listless and lacking energy, you are perhaps suffering from the debilitating effects of summer weather. The symptoms indicate that a tonic is needed that will create a healthy appetite, make digestion perfect, regulate the bowels, and impart natural activity to the liver. This, Herbine will do. It is a tonic, laxative and restorative. H. J. Freagar, Propr. Grand View Hotel, Cheney, Kan., writes: "I have used Herbine for the last 12 years, and nothing on earth can beat it. It was recommended to me by Dr. Newton, Newton, Kas." Sold at R. C. Hardwick's.

WORLD'S LARGEST TUNNEL.

Simpson Tunnel Will Break All Records When Completed.

According to United States Consul Pearson, at Genoa, the Simpson tunnel, when completed, will be the largest in the world, to wit, 14 miles long, or twice the length of the Mont Cenis and five times longer than the St. Gotthard. The cost of the tunnel alone will be $13,510,000, an average of nearly $1,000,000 per mile.

"The work," says the consul, according to the Washington Star, "is progressing rapidly in the tunnel on both sides of the Alps; about 4,000 workmen are employed in the tunnel, and not less than 6,000 on the Italian section of the road between Isella, at the mouth of the tunnel, and Arona, the present terminus of the railway running north from Milan. It is now practically certain that the road will be completed within the estimated time—that is to say, by July 1, 1905—as nearly two-thirds of the tunnel was finished July 1, 1902, and the worst obstacles have already been met and mastered. The greatest of the impediments was the ever-increasing heat in the tunnel, caused by the growing volume of water, which, although it starts at the summit of the mountain, 6,000 feet above the line of railway, after percolating through the beds of limestone, becomes almost boiling hot and flows in the tunnel at a temperature of from 112 degrees to 140 degrees F., rendering not only work but life impossible without resort to artificial means of refrigeration. The engineer by turning cold air on hot air and cold water on hot water has reduced the temperature in the tunnel from 140 degrees to 70 degrees F.

"The volume of water flowing out of the south end of the tunnel is over 15,000 gallons per minute, and furnishes motive power sufficient not only to work the refrigerating apparatus, but to compress the air by which the drills are operated."

MONEY IN BARLEY.

Heavy Yield Made by a Progressive Farmer.

Mr. J. D. Shepherd, on his farm near town, this year tried the experiment of raising barley for the first time. He sowed about two and a half sacks of 2 bushels each and threshed 113 sacks, leaving about one-fourth behind for his stock. Barley weighs 48 pounds to the bushel and makes a fine feed and is in demand for many purposes. The price is about the same as wheat and Mr. Shepherd found it a much more profitable crop this year. Most of our farmers would like the cultivation of diversified crops much more profitable than the old way of raising nothing but corn, wheat and tobacco.

INDIANA HUMOR.

A Bridegroom Has a Cow Bell Fastened to His Leg.

Wabash, Ind., June 27.—The marriage of William B. Russell and Miss Blanche Campbell took place at Lagro last evening and the happy couple came to Wabash to take the train for their bridal tour. A gay party accompanied the pair, and seized Russell, chained and locked a cow bell to his right leg. The unfortunate groom could not get the noisy ornament off and none of his friends would help him. He walked in despair up and down the station platform, the bell ringing loudly, while the crowd jeered. Just as the train arrived friends went to his rescue and managed to disengage him from the bell and lead him on the train.
